

Malcolm Bain

Malcolm Bain is partner at Across Legal, a law firm in Barcelona focusing on innovation projects, start-ups, investment and ICT law. Malcolm specialises in information technology and intellectual property law. He has a wide experience representing clients on both sides of IT transactions, including several public administrations.

Malcolm has been advising public administration on digital rights and open technologies for many years, including open data and open source software, and lectures on the legal aspects of the open technologies in several universities, as well as participating in many conferences on these subjects. He is a member of the Free Software Foundation Europe.

